

CLAIMS

1. A material separation screen, comprising:

multiple shafts aligned along a separation screen frame and configured to rotate in a 5 direction causing paper products to move along the separation screen, the shafts configured with a shape and spacing so that substantially rigid pieces of the paper products move along the screen while non-rigid pieces of the paper products slide down between adjacent shafts.